This investigation was undertaken in accordance with the act of Congress approved August 23, 1912, establishing the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce. In addition to presenting the cost of production, the report contains information concerning manufacturing and selling methods, working conditions, imports and exports, and other features or conditions of this industry which were observed by the special agents. While in earlier years the American cotton-textile industry was mainly dependent upon foreign manufacturers for machinery, this dependence has been gradually removed, and at the present time statistics obtained from cotton mills throughout the United States show that over 90 per cent of the cotton-textile machinery installed is of American manufacture. Statistics of the value of imports and exports of cotton-spinning machinery are not available, but an examination of the invoices at the United States appraisers offices in Boston, New York, and Philadelphia shows that the number of cotton-textile machines imported at these ports decreased from 1,132 in 1909 to 275 in 1914. The duty on these machines is 20 per cent ad valorem. While the amount of exports of cotton-spinning machinery of the kind considered in this report is unknown, it was found upon inquiry among the manufacturers that it is very small, in fact almost...
