Debs and codefendants in contempt proceedings went to jail last night in default of bail, although bail was offered them in court. Their purpose evidently was to create sympathy. A number of organizations last night protested against their commitment, but don t think violence will follow. Believe that marshal, police, and State troops can main-tain order, and thereby prevent interference with passage of mail and interstate commerce trains. Think Government troops can safely retire to Fort Sheridan. John W. Arnold. Edwin Walker. Thomas E. Milchrist. Teh-gram. Chicago, lii., July 19,1894. Hon. Richard Olney-, Attorney-General, Washington, B. C. The marshal believed yesterday that his 1,200 deputies were sufficient and that there was no further danger of mob violence. It appears that the strikers believed yesterday morning that troops would soon be removed. From reports of secret meetings held last evening we are satisfied that there will be further violence and intimidation if all the Federal troops are removed. The strike is now virtually a switchman s strike supported by switch engineers and firemen, numbering about 3.000, and this feature of the strike is unbroken. They are the most reckless and determined of all railroad employees. Can not the order to General Miles be modified so as to leave troops to the number of 1.000, at least for a few days longer?...
